
Awakened 'Self'

Kumara Swamy Ravipati Assistant Professor of English, Koneru Lakshmaiah Education Foundation (Deemed to be University), Green Fields, Vaddeswaram, Guntur, Andhra Pradesh, India. *
Email: rkumaraswamy42@gmail.com

When Heaven's call was heard
The curtain fell on her live episode
Her gentle heart ran empty
Gone through immortality
Her soul spread her wings
In springtime line
It rose to the star skyline
Reached the realm of Heaven
I awakened my 'self' world
In that realm of the lord
Established, 'Soul does not discard'.
I could see her only in a dream
When the world was quiet and calm
Her face spotted an infinite grace
With a bridal magical trace
Neither feeling as she had once
Nor getting old with time
Her carers fixing her soulmate
Gone through the second thought

Deemed to be the former dude

On the eve of her bridal chord

What could I do in the world of doom

Destined to disease, demise and gloom

My soul lagging in the heavenly race

I know I am not so blessed as she is!